

NOW

I understand the bitterness
From those who built the country
Where purpose was to give a hand
So hard to take for granted

Where some are sailing way off course
And some they're turning to God
So many things we never saw
That run ahead of us now

But now, it's eventually that day
We've been waiting for
Come, into the great wide open
Now is the moment to embrace
All we foughted for
Cause now, we're reunited again

We had to learn, believe in faith
Cause no one had the answers
And for the first time had to share
Our loneliness together

We drifted into open sea
Just getting further astray
Horizon sometimes visible
But moving further away

But now, it's eventually that day .....

Cause every time holds newborn heroes
Prepared, determined to strive
And we're among the lucky ones
To find we're still in this life

Cause now, it's eventually that day .....
